Website Terms of Use

EXTERNAL / CORPORATE GOVERNANCE / VERSION 1.0

DOCUMENT CODE	EX-03
POLICY OWNER	Legal / Commercial
STATUS	Approved — Board and both co-founders
REVIEW	At least annually and after material change

01 Purpose

These terms apply to Omniscient-owned public websites and informational content, not to contracted enterprise services or licensed software. This policy establishes minimum requirements and accountability for website terms of use across Omniscient Industries Limited ("Omniscient"). Its requirements apply proportionately to the activity, risk and applicable law. Implementation and compliance must be supported by appropriate operational evidence.

02 Application

This approved policy governs the stated public or third-party commitments. External publication must accurately reflect the company's relevant services and actual operating arrangements. Contractual and statutory requirements take priority; any customer-specific terms or product documentation continue to apply where relevant.

03 Policy requirements

3.1 Permitted use

- Visitors may view and use public pages for lawful informational purposes; automated scraping, misuse of access controls and interference with site operation are prohibited where enforceable.
- Nothing on a website is an offer to supply a regulated capability or a commitment to deliver any product, timeline, certification or performance level.
- Descriptions, illustrations and technical material may change without notice; demonstrations and conceptual images should not be treated as operational specifications.

3.2 Intellectual property

- The site and its content may contain copyright, trademarks, confidential know-how and other rights of Omniscient or licensors.
- Visitors receive a limited permission to access public content and may not use logos, copy software or republish material commercially without authority.
- Third-party trademarks and linked resources remain the property and responsibility of their respective owners.

3.3 Security and availability

- Users must not attempt unauthorised access, malware distribution, interference or vulnerability exploitation outside the responsible disclosure process.
- The website may be suspended for maintenance, security or legal reasons; no enterprise service commitment is created by these public terms.
- If a link points to another party, its site and privacy practices are outside Omniscient's control.

3.4 Legal position and contacts

- Consumer statutory rights and liability that cannot lawfully be excluded remain unaffected; terms should not purport to exclude liability for fraud, death or personal injury caused by negligence.
- Governing law, jurisdiction and entity details require legal confirmation before publication, particularly if the site targets other countries.

- Requests about content, permissions or these terms should be sent to the corporate contact address.

04 Responsibility and escalation

The policy owner is Legal / Commercial. The responsible executive sponsor must ensure that this policy is translated into working arrangements, that relevant teams understand their duties and that material concerns are considered without unnecessary delay. Business partners should use their nominated Omniscient contact to raise questions; serious suspected misconduct or safety and security risks should be escalated urgently.

05 Evidence, assurance and improvement

The owner should establish practical records, risk reviews, approvals and corrective actions needed to demonstrate application of this policy. Evidence should be proportionate to the risk, handled according to the information classification and retention policies, and reviewed after significant incidents or regulatory change. Do not state that a control, certification, audit or training programme has been completed without supporting evidence.

06 Review, exceptions and approval

This policy has been approved by the Board and both co-founders. Publication and implementation must remain accurate to actual company operations. Changes must be version controlled, and material updates communicated to affected audiences.

6.1 Publication or implementation condition

Requires legal approval; do not use as a substitute for customer SaaS terms or a master services agreement.
